INFORMATION REGARDING DILATING EYE DROPS

Dilating drops are used to dilate or enlarge the pupils of the eye to allow your eye doctor to get a better view of the inside of your eye.

Dilating drops frequently blur vision for a length of time which varies from person to person and may make bright lights bothersome. It is not possible for your eye doctor to predict how much your vision will be affected. Because driving may be difficult immediately after your examination, it's best if you make arrangements not to drive yourself home.

Adverse reaction, such as acute angle-closure glaucoma, may be triggered from the dilating drops. This is extremely rare and treatable with immediate medical attention.

I hereby authorize the Doctors of John-Kenyon American Eye Institute and/or such assistants as may be designated by them to administer dilating eye drops. The eye drops are necessary to diagnose my condition.
